

Billy Bob always loses track of time when working on school work. He wants to make sure he gets the best possible grade in each of his classes. Billy's poor time management skills also cause him to miss other things that go on during the day.

Billy often misses meeting up with his girlfriend who is getting tired of him missing dates. Billy doesn't want his grades to go down, but he also doesn't want to miss being with his girlfriend.

Billy then decides to download a schedule planner app so that he can get his schedule straightened up.

Billy then sets up his schedule for tomorrow so that he can have time for both studying and being with his girlfriend.

The next day, Billy is working on some homework when he gets a notification on his phone.

Billy is notified on his phone that he needs to go meet up with his girlfriend at 5. Because of this notification, Billy is able to finally spend some time with his girlfriend.

Billy has been able to do his work and be with his girlfriend due to the schedule planner. He's become much happier due to his day being properly planner out!

Conrad always spends too much time watching movies or playing video games that he always forgets to do his homework. He is good at doing his assignments he always just forgets that he has them

Conrad hears about an app called the USC planner that will help him keep track of his assignments so he downloads it on his phone

On the USC planner Conrad's upcoming assignments are all organized to that he can see everything that he has to do and by when

One night Conrad is playing video games with the boys but he forgot that he had homework due at 12 o'clock that night

Luckily Conrad got a notification from the app that he had homework due tomorrow.

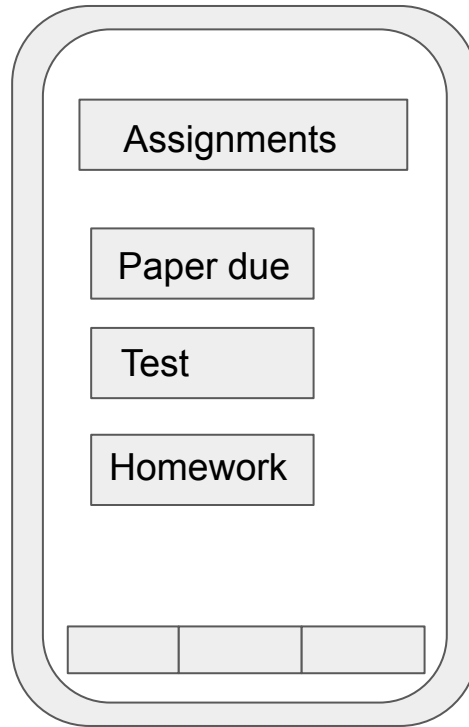

Thanks to the reminder Conrad remembers to get on and finish his homework. This helps him keep his grades up by not losing any points on many small assignments

Cornelious has been super busy and unorganized at college. As a student athlete on the soccer team with a lot of friends, his schedule has been full of practices, school work, and trying to maintain his social life.

Cornelious's soccer teammate, Jack, wants to help Cornelious out with his time management. He downloads the app called Schedule Planner.

Jack creates a custom schedule planner for Cornelious.

Jack happily sends the app to Cornelious along with the custom schedule he created which consists of Cornelious's soccer practice/games and school work fully organized.

The next day Cornelious gets out of bed and immediately checks his schedule planner. He now knows exactly what needs to get done as the times of his practice and the due dates of his assignments are all laid out crystal clear in front of him.

For the first time in awhile Cornelious is extremely happy as he's completely organized getting his school work done much earlier in the day than usual. This leaves him with enough time to maintain his social life and hang with friends!
